7. Discussion and possible direction to Commission staff regarding the Commission's Reputational Goals in alignment with the adopted Strategic Plan.

Chair Scherer introduced the item and asked Commission Counsel Bassett for her presentation.

Commission Counsel Bassett provided the intent of the Agenda Item noting that one focus of the Commission's Strategic Plan is maintaining the public's trust in government. She shared the results of the reputational goals survey completed by the Commissioners and Commission staff. Commission Counsel Bassett thanked the survey participants for their feedback. The Commissioners discussed next steps for the reputational goals.

Commissioner Lowry thanked Mr. Schrimpf for providing timely and articulate public comment. She shared her view that while it is important to consider the Commission's perception of its reputation, the public's perception of the Commission's reputation should be measured and prioritized. Commissioner Lowry acknowledged that sometimes the Commission's hands are tied by law, specifically the jurisdiction as authorized in the Ethics law. She noted her tendency to lean toward education equal to accountability, not placing education ahead of adjudication, but equal importance in order to increase the public's confidence in government. Commissioner Lowry questioned whether the Commission's Outreach and Education department could be utilized to obtain public feedback regarding the Commission's reputation and outlined that understanding the Commission's internal perception, the general public's perception and stakeholders' perception would be beneficial in moving forward.

Chair Scherer asked Outreach and Education Officer Harvey if they could bring back some ideas on surveying public perception of the Commission's reputation at the April meeting. Outreach and Education Officer Harvey responded that they could not as they will be out on family leave, however Executive Director Armstrong could provide the information. Vice Chair Wallin suggested that the survey be posted on the Commission's website followed by a press release about the survey and Outreach and Education Officer Harvey agreed.

Commissioner Reynolds stated that he was a state administrator for 21 years and in his experience it was the state managers' responsibility to work with elected officials and provide training about fiscal obligations ranging from travel to campaign finance and many managers didn't prioritize that training. He suggested that training be provided to state managers, trainers and government charter representatives. Chair Scherer agreed and added that appointees to small local government boards and commissions should also receive training.

Vice Chair Wallin echoed her fellow Commissioners' comments. She discussed the Commission's advisory opinion process, agreed that the process can sometimes get held up by the requesters, highlighted that on a few occasions the Commission was able to expedite opinions in emergent circumstances and shared her belief that the published opinions had improved, were much more succinct and easier to understand in the new format. She agreed that training is extremely important and stated that the Commission's training program has grown by leaps and bounds.

Chair Scherer noted that at the end of the day the Commission is an adjudicatory body and is tasked with considering the facts and circumstances of each individual case on its own merits.

Commissioner Langton stated that he is continually impressed by Commission staff's work and was surprised by the amount of work the Commissioners put in which is not realized by the public. He commended the staff, especially Executive Director Armstrong, for the depth of the analysis provided. Commissioner Langton added that he appreciates the Commission is not out for its pound of flesh and is focused on being a valuable resource for education.

No action was taken on this Item.

8. Report by Executive Director on agency status and operations.

Chair Scherer introduced the item and asked Executive Director Armstrong for his presentation.

Executive Director Armstrong referenced the Executive Director's report included with the meeting materials. He welcomed new Commissioner John Miller to the Commission and to his first meeting. Executive Director Armstrong informed the Commission about his plan to underfill the Associate Counsel position with current Senior Legal Researcher Hazlett who upon passage of the State Bar would automatically promote to the position. He acknowledged that the position had remained vacant for quite some time and shared that other state agencies are experiencing the same struggles in recruiting.

Commissioner Miller asked how long the Associate Counsel position had been vacant and Vice Chair Wallin responded that the position had been vacant almost a year.

Executive Director updated the Commission about the Legislative session, the Commission's presentation at the Joint Meeting of the Senate Committee and Assembly Committee on Legislative Operations and Elections on February 11, and outlined which proposed bills he was tracking. He agreed to continue to provide weekly legislative reports via email to the Commission.

Executive Director Armstrong informed the Commission of the progress on the implementation for each of the four strategic plan focus areas including the reputational study heard earlier in the meeting, outreach and education goals outlined in a staff meeting the day prior to the meeting, feedback from the January staff time study and the inclusion of funds to replace the Commission's case management system in the Governor's recommended budget.

Executive Director Armstrong shared that he attended the Commission's budget hearing the Monday prior, summarized the proceedings and provided information on the budget enhancements included in the biennial budget request. He noted that he provided adequate responses to the Committee's pre-hearing questions resulting in minimal questions asked at the budget presentation. Executive Director Armstrong shared information pertaining to the Commission's language access plan and anticipated next steps.

Executive Director Armstrong confirmed that there will only be a review panel in March and the April 16 meeting will be held in Reno.

There was discussion regarding proposed legislation's potential impact on the Commission and historical legislative benchmarks.

No action was taken on this Item.

9. Report on Ethics Outreach and Education.

Chair Scherer opened the item and asked Outreach and Education Officer (OEO) Harvey to provide the Outreach and Education presentation.

OEO Harvey referenced the written report included with meeting materials, highlighted the Commission's social media presence updates, and outlined the recent education and outreach efforts including the recently concluded newly elected officers training. They provided details on increased acknowledgment filings, newsletter subscription requests and upcoming scheduled training opportunities. OEO Harvey informed the Commission of the public records requests received since the last Commission meeting.

Commissioner Reynolds and Vice Chair Wallin asked questions about training personalization and engagement and OEO Harvey responded.

Vice Chair Wallin commented that the Nevada Ethics Online (NEO) is a great tool for new Commissioners, commended OEO Harvey on their hard work on behalf of the Commission.

No action was taken on this Item.

10. Commissioner Comments.

Vice Chair Wallin welcomed Commissioner Miller to the Commission and reiterated that Commissioners on the Ethics Commission can expect a lot of work. Chair Scherer agreed and noted a lot more work is conducted through confidential emails since the 1999 law passage. He added that since the work is performed confidentially the public doesn't see the whole of it which can be a double edged sword but is important to discourage sharing of confidential submissions.

Commissioner Langton requested a copy of SJR5 which was discussed during the Executive Director report item and Executive Director Armstrong agreed he would email the document to Commissioner Langton.

Commissioner Miller thanked his fellow Commissioners for the warm welcome, stated he was happy to be on the Commission, agreed that there is a lot of paperwork and that the Commission is an important aspect of government. He commented that he looked forward to working with the Commission.

Chair Scherer thanked Commissioner Miller and expressed that he was glad Commissioner Miller agreed to serve and is willing to devote his time to the Commission.

Chair Scherer asked if there would be any contested cases on the April agenda and Executive Director Armstrong clarified that there would be consideration of proposed stipulations not contested cases.

11. Public Comment.

There was no public comment.

12. Adjournment.

Vice Chair Wallin made a motion to adjourn the public meeting. Commissioner Lowry seconded the motion. The Motion was put to a vote and carried unanimously.
